

INTO UEA Policy on Late Arrivals at Listening Exams

For listening (aural) exams, the late arrival of a student is both impractical and, moreover, disruptive to those students already present. Therefore, from now on, students are not permitted to arrive late for any INTO UEA listening exams/ course tests under exam conditions. In the absence of any extenuating circumstances, students arriving late will be excluded from the exam and will be recorded as non-attending; there will be no opportunity for reassessment. Those students who are absent due to genuine extenuating circumstances will be offered a delayed first sit.

Listening Exam UEA regulation:

Students must attend English Listening exam on time or they will be refused entry.

ACTION – Students will not be allowed to enter Listening exams if they arrive after the start of the exam.
